Read about Hassan and answer the questions.vw.derasatv.net

Hassan wanted to buy a new car, but he didn't know what to get. He was sitting in a cafe in the mall drinking a coffee. He was at the mall because he needed some new clothes. But he wasn't thinking about clothes. He was thinking about a car.

He saw a newspaper on a seat next to him. It was open at page 10. There were some articles about cars. He picked it up and started reading. He didn't begin at the beginning, he started in the middle.

The Tiger 5X also has very good suspension to help the driver keep on the road. It is also good in the desert. The passengers won't bounce up and down in the back seats! There's lots of space for bags, so this car is good for people who like camping. It's also good for people who want to carry lots of sports equipment but don't want to have a big 4WD car.

'Oh! That's good,' he thought. 'I like camping in the desert. And I don't want my children bouncing up and down in the back.'

The Tiger 5X is a great new car. It has many things that drivers like. There are also things to keep the other people in the car happy – and happy passengers help keep the driver happy! First of all it looks good. That's very important.

'Ah!' thought Hassan. 'This is good for me and good for my family. I think I will go and look at the Tiger 5X.'

Extra activities

Read these true stories from China and Africa and V. derasatv.net answer the questions.

Story 1

About fifty years ago in China, farmers had a big problem with birds. There were too many birds, and the birds were eating the plants in the farmers' fields.

The Chinese government wanted the farmers to produce more food. The farmers said, 'We could produce more food if there were fewer birds.'

So the government told everyone in China to kill birds. At first, this plan worked well. Millions of birds were killed. The farmers produced more food and they were pleased.

Then they had a new problem – there were too many insects. The insects ate more plants than the birds, and they were everywhere. They were in the fields, in the houses, in people's hair, eyes, ears, noses and mouths.

The farmers and the government understood their mistake. They said, 'The birds used to eat the insects, but now we've killed the birds and the insects are worse than the birds were.'

Story 2

A few years ago, in Africa, some farmers had a problem with monkeys. There were a lot of wild monkeys in the jungle near the farms, and sometimes these monkeys took bananas and other fruit from the farmers' trees.

So the farmers went into the jungle and killed a lot of monkeys. They did the same thing again every few weeks until there were no monkeys left.

The farmers were very pleased, but then something started killing their animals at night. Every week, a farmer lost one or two of his animals. The killers were leopards. Leopards usually eat monkeys, but the monkeys were all dead. So the leopards were eating the farmers' animals.

The farmers understood their mistake and they stopped killing monkeys. After a few years, there were lots of monkeys again. They ate the farmers' fruit, but the farmers didn't mind because the leopards stopped killing their animals.

Life outside Iraq

Ibrahim's life story

Ibrahim lived in a small village in the south of Iraq when he was a child. He loved the sea and he often went fishing with his father. From an early age, he was interested in animals. He was forever asking questions about animals, for example, 'Why do flies have wings?' and 'Why do fish live in the sea?' His father had goats and chickens and Ibrahim liked to look after them. He talked to them as if they were friends. His brothers used to laugh at him.

When he went to school, Ibrahim learned to read quickly. He liked reading and he was always asking his father for books. He did not like television, so he spent a lot of time reading. He learnt that there were lots of different animals in other countries.

In 1990, Ibrahim's father got a new job with Iraq Petroleum and the family moved to Baghdad. Life was very different in the city. At first, Ibrahim did not like it, but after a few months, he found that there was a lot to do for a 16-year-old boy.

One day, at the mall, he met a French boy called Pierre. Ibrahim learned to speak some French with him. He also learned about France. The boys used to talk about what they wanted to do when they left school. One day, Ibrahim said 'I think I'll be a zoologist. Then I can study animals in different countries.

When Ibrahim left school, he studied zoology at Cairo University. Now he is a well-known zoologist. He works in France and he is writing a book about animals in Africa.

Paragraphs

Long texts are always divided into paragraphs. They help readers to understand the text.

What do they look like?

- Paragraphs always start on a new line.
- They sometimes begin a little way in from the left of the page. This is called an indent.
- If there is no indent, there is a line space between paragraphs.

What makes a paragraph?

A paragraph is a group of sentences about one topic or idea.

B  $\triangle \triangle$  You are going to read a text about a famous person. First, do the exercise below.

B Read about Ali's career and answer the questions.

Ali enjoyed primary school very much. He liked the teachers and he liked learning. He learned to read when he was five and he used to read a lot of books at home. However, when he went to secondary school at 12, things changed. He made new friends who didn't like school. Ali wanted to be like them, so he stopped working hard and didn't do his homework.

Ali found the first year easy, but the second year was different. He didn't understand the lessons and he found that he couldn't do the work. His parents were worried about their son. They wanted him to go to university after school so that he could get a good job.

'School is boring,' said Ali. 'I want to leave school at 16 and get a job. That's what my friends are going to do.'

At the end of Ali's second year, the family went on holiday and stayed on a farm. Ali loved helping the farmer with the animals. One day, one of the cows got very sick and the farmer had to call in a vet. Ali talked to the vet about his job and decided that he wanted to become one. 'You'll have to work very hard,' said the vet. 'It's not an easy course at university. And you need good marks in your school exams to get on the course.'

Ali's parents were very pleased. 'You can come to the farm every summer if you work hard,' they said. 'We'll decide at the end of each year. It's up to you.' Ali enjoyed the rest of the holiday, but he was worried about going back to school. He couldn't stop thinking about all the work he would have to do to make up for the past year.

The beginning of Ali's third year at secondary school was very tough and he didn't like it. He had to work very hard to catch up, but by the end of the year he was the best in his class. He knows what he wants to do now. This makes it much easier for him to work hard.

Heyerdahl's letter	The journey
Building the boat	Heyerdahl's beliefs

Voyage of survival

Professor Heyerdahl of Norway was a world famous, archaeologist and adventurer. He liked to travel the world, believing that ancient civilizations were probably able to trade, travel and make long migrations by sea using simple ships built by their own hands. He also believed that there had been communication between the three original civilizations in Mesopotamia, Egypt and the Indus Valley (India and Pakistan). To prove this, Heyerdahl decided to build a ship from just reeds and sail it through the Arab Gulf to the Indian Ocean.

During the summer of 1977, Heyerdahl came to Iraq to build a large boat completely of reeds and sail from there towards the Indian Ocean. He built the boat in Qurna, where the Tigris and Euphrates meet. Although Hyerdahl was 63 years old at that time, he engineered the boat himself. Iraqi and foreign workers completed building the boat in two months. It was named The Tigris.

On 23 November, 1977, The Tigris started its journey into the Shatt-el-Arab carrying eleven people from Iraq, Denmark, America, Mexico, Japan, Italy, the Soviet Union and Norway. The boat reached al Fao and then entered the Arab Gulf. It carried the flag of the United Nations. On 15 December, 1977, the boat arrived in Bahrain. Then, it sailed into the Arabian Sea, which is part of the Indian Ocean. It went around the Arabian Peninsula and the wind drifted the ship towards the island of Socotra south of Yemen, but they were not allowed to stop there because of the wars in the area. Docking in Djibouti on 3 April 1978, Heyerdahl decided to burn the reed ship in protest against the wars in the Middle East.

Heyerdahl sent an open letter to the UN Secretary General on 3 April, 1978. It reads:

'Our voyage has been into the past to study the qualities of a prehistoric type of vessel (boat) built upon ancient Sumerian principles. But it has also been a voyage into the future to prove that no space is too restricted for peaceful survival for everyone. When we used the reed ship we knew we would either sink or survive together. We need intelligent collaboration to save ourselves and our common civilization instead of making it a sinking ship.'

SPORTS STAR ARRIVES IN CAIRO

Report by Hussan Mustafa

Wissam Taha, who plays for Al Kahraba football club, arrived in Cairo yesterday for a short visit.

He spoke to reporters at the airport. He said: 'I'm very happy to be in this beautiful country. I would like to play for an Egyptian club in the future.'

He then went to the television studio. He spoke to Mohammed Fuad about his life and his hopes for the future.

He visited the offices of the Egyptian Football Association for lunch. He talked to some famous Egyptian footballers about football in the Arab World.

In the afternoon, he went to the main football stadium. He taught football skills to a group of young footballers. They were the winners of a sports competition earlier in the year.

In the evening he went back to the airport. He took a plane to Iraq.

POLICE FIND GIRL AFTER THREE HOURS

Report by Ibrahim Ali

Reem Kamal went missing during a family shopping trip to the shopping mall yesterday afternoon. She was shopping with her mother and father and her two sisters.

It all started at 4.15 p.m. 'One minute she was there and the next minute she was gone,' said her mother, Huda. 'We looked everywhere for her.'

Huda told the security guards. They put out a message, but nobody found her. 'I wasn't worried at first,' said Salim, one of the guards. 'Children go missing all the time, but they always turn up after a few minutes.'

The guards called the police. 'We searched the mall for three hours,' said Police Inspector Raad, 'but we didn't find her.'

Then Policewoman Amna Ibrahim heard a noise. 'It was coming from a large cleaning cupboard,' she said. 'I tried to open the cupboard, but it was locked.' She called Salim and he unlocked the door. Reem was inside.

'I went through the door because I thought it was the toilet,' Reem told our reporter. 'The door closed behind me and I couldn't open it. I shouted, but nobody could hear me.'

Reem Kamal was home with her family last night. 'I will always tell my mother where I am going in future,' she said.
